War in Mexico Again.

For some time past, we have had reports of internal difficulties in Mexico, assuming the character of an internal war, and revolution, and probable overthrow again of the wooden-legged hero, Santa Anna. But the reports of the progress of events are so contradictory that it is with great difficulty that we can arrive at the real facts.

Scarcely does the journalist chronicle a victory or defeat of one or the other party, before he is ashamed by precisely contradictory news. Every temporary success is magnified by either party into a great victory, and so we hang in doubt from day to day. Now, however, some really definite and reliable facts seem to be disclosed. The Mexican correspondent of the New Orleans Bee, gives us reliable information under date of June 5th, of the appearance of insurgent forces near the city of Mexico, of the advance of Santa Anna from Morelia to Arrio, of his humiliating retreat and the capture of Monterey by the revolutionists. The report which has been already published in the various journals of this country of the capture of Zamora by Santa Anna, appeared to be much more of an achievement than it really was. With that was coupled the story of the defeat of the insurgent leader Puelbita. That portion of the news was false. Puelbita with his troops had left Zamora before the arrival of the government troops, and therefore, the latter had simply to march in and take possession.

The insurgents took different routes from Zamora, and a considerable division of them under the command of Degollado were marching almost to the very walls of the Capital, while his Serene Highness was on his march into the interior. Degollado had been induced to this course by a partisan of the puros Villanueva, who had promised to raise the standard of revolution in the city, which, however, he failed to do. The city was for some time in great consternation, for Degollado was within four leagues of the walls with a troop of 1500 horse. The Cabinet in the absence of Santa Anna dispatched Gen. Zires with a force of six or seven hundred men against Degollado, but the latter fell back upon Tacubaya. Meantime Santa Anna sent a force under Tavera to attack him. Degollado was taken at disadvantage, where he was compelled to fight. Both parties claim the victory. Degollado, after the battle, resumed the route to Michoacan.

After the capture of Zamora, Santa Anna returned to Morelia. The full reports of the movements of the different forces of Alvarez, the leader of the insurgents, and of Santa Anna with the government troops has already been published. The revolution has assumed formidable dimensions, and has been conjured up by Santa Anna himself, from his efforts to ape the Louis Napoleon style, of securing an endorsement at the ballot-box. His money and his factions have also contributed to the result. He has now neither the prestige, the talent, nor the courage to lay the spirit he has raised. It is said to be the general opinion in Mexico, that his days of rule are numbered, and that ere long his government will tumble into undistinguished ruin. The usurper's fall must soon be complete.

A man living in Sidney, Ohio, nearly ninety years of age, has a bet-pending with a neighbor that he shall live to be one hundred years.

Bro. Starr on Colonization in Kansas.

The Rev. F. Starr, formerly of Weston, Mo., whom we classed as an abolitionist, as long as twelve months ago, is now delivering anti-slavery lectures throughout the East. He delivered a lecture in New York last week upon the subject of colonization in Kansas. He was somewhat severe upon the Bostonians for the loud pretensions made respecting the funds to be raised and the men to be sent to people Kansas Territory; and in connection with his remarks thereupon, gave some rather happy delineations of local characteristics.

The instant the Kansas-Nebraska bill passed last year, we had a great demonstration made at Boston, and they said they were going to raise a capital of five million dollars to send twenty thousand men of grit and pluck to Kansas. I don't know what has become of the five million dollars. But when they talked of $5,000,000 and 20,000 men, that sounded large to the people in the State of Missouri, which is a slave State, and men who didn't want to have their property depreciated twenty-five per cent. or so in the course of a couple of years, took alarm at this big talk, which, by-the-by, didn't mean anything—was nothing but gas. That kind of talk led the State of Missouri to say, "Who's going to take that Kansas? If they've got $5,000,000, we've got $5,000,000. There's one thing at any rate we can do—we can out-bully and out-fight them." For they all have the idea that one southern man can whip fifteen northerners. I have friends who have just this idea, that northerners can't fight, don't know how to fight, hasn't got any blood in him to fight, and that one southerner is equal to fifteen northerners at any time in any thing.

People at the North talk all the while about Southern chivalry as though there was not any there; they think that when they come to talk right up to a Southerner he will come down. At the South, they say the Northerners do nothing but gas all the while. Now, to my mind, they are both badly mistaken. In the South, there is an utter recklessness about which we know nothing; they are always ready to fight at the drop of a hat. They had just as lief die about a sixpence as about a million of dollars, when their blood is up. Here at the North, men are of a different temperament. In the South, tell a man he lies, and he will say, "I want an apology or I'll kill you; and he is taught to keep excited until he will kill you. Here at the North, tell a man he lies, and he is very much obliged to you, but until you prove it, it is merely an assertion. I suppose men North can fight just as well as men South, but when the North think the South have got no pluck, they are just as badly mistaken. The Northerners fight from a feeling of duty; the Southerners from excitement.

David R. Atchison.

Speaking of the election for United States Senator of Missouri, the Squatter Sovereign of Kansas Territory, strongly endorses Gen. Atchison, and asks—

"Is there one man, Whig or Democrat, in the whole State of Missouri, who love their institutions, who is not a free-soiler, but will bury all minor differences, and rally as one man, to the support of this well tried veteran of a hundred battles?"

Good morning John! Bury all minor differences, every body, Whig and Democrat, rally to the support of Mr. Atchison! And all who refuse to "rally" are to be denounced as free-soilers who do not love the institutions of Missouri! A pretty proposition, truly, especially as it comes from non-residents of the State—from men who might get rich, as some people do, by attending to their own business. —Missouri Statesman.

And are we not strictly attending to our own business? Are we not indirectly dependent entirely upon the Missouri delegation in Congress for that care and attention in Legislation, which is denied us directly by our Territorial condition. Such being the case, it is not strange that we feel a deep interest in the election of D. R. Atchison, that well-tried and faithful friend of the Squatter. Can we sit silent, and see such men as Jas. S. Rollins and others of the Switzer stripe of patriots, displace him in our hour of peril. The Lord defend us from such friends, say we.

CALIFORNIA.—California really seems to be an inexhaustible store-house of wealth. Jonathan made a splendid bargain when he added her mines and rich agricultural valleys to his other investments. The prospects of the State are most encouraging, notwithstanding the recent financial disasters. Strange to say, California is actually exporting wheat and flour to New York and Australia. A commercial circular says: "We can at present spare for export certainly thirty thousand barrels of flour, or its equivalent in wheat, and still have an abundance left to carry us through the harvest, while many claim that a shipment of fifty thousand barrels would not materially straighten the market."

The Herald of Freedom says there are now fully ten thousand actual residents in Kansas, who are from the northern States, or who desire to make Kansas a free State.—Exchange.

Like most statements from that sheet, the above is an unmitigated falsehood. Not one third of ten thousand, can be found in this Territory who have tied themselves to the skirts of the abolition leaders of the north.

The prospects of an abundant harvest begins to effect the price of Flour in this neighborhood. A decline of about $3 per barrel has taken place within a short time.

A weekly paper is about being published by Sherman & Strickland, at Omaha City, N.T., called the Nebraska. Terms $2.00 per annum, invariably in advance.

"In a Pig's Eye."—There is a drinking and eating house in St. Louis, called "Pig's Eye House."

News from all Quarters

Milwaukee is only twenty years old; it has a population of forty thousand.

Hon. S. A. Douglas and Postmaster Cook of Chicago, have presented that city with ten acres of land, valued at $1,000 per acre.

The Seminole Indians in Florida have, it is stated, agreed to emigrate, at last, beyond the Mississippi.

Jane Johnson, colored, said to be one hundred and ten years old, is still living at Carmel Village, New York.

Captain Thomas R. McConnell, of the United States Army, has accepted a professorship in the Georgia Military Institute.

The First Methodist Episcopal Church in Germany, a really beautiful building, has been completed, dedicated and occupied.

Hon. Charles Sumner receives one hundred dollars for each delivery of his anti-slavery lectures.

Mr. McLane, Minister at China, is in Washington. His health is such as to render it doubtful whether he will return to his post.

Mrs. Partington's Ike has bought a horse that is so spirituous that he always goes off in a deceiver.

The Texas papers complain of the difficulty of reclaiming runaway slaves who get into Mexico.

President Pierce has conferred the 2d Lieutenantcy in the United States Army upon Thomas Grey, a young Irishman.

Jessie Wilson, of Lamar county, Texas, buys a "field nigger" every year with the proceeds of his bee hives.

A new paper is about being started at St. Joseph, by W. C. Brent, late associate editor of the Cycle. It will be called the Republican, and will be Whig in politics.

Miss Thornton, an intelligent young lady of Livingston, Ala., was recently murdered by one of her father's negroes, under circumstances of the most revolting atrocity.

Judge Story has charged the grand jury of Suffolk and Westchester counties, New York, that ale is not strong drink, and its sale, therefore, is not illegal.

The proposed Southern party, the project of which originated at a public meeting recently held at Columbus, Ga., is heartily supported by most of the leading Democratic presses of the South.

Mrs. Ann Jackson, of Kentucky, died on the 2d ultimo, at the extraordinary age of 108 years. She was the mother of a large family of children, the oldest of whom is now in his 89th year.

Out of thirty-two foreign nations, there are only two—viz: Sweden and Ecuador—in which no material postal improvement has been made since the introduction into Great Britain of the penny postage.

In 1788, sixty-eight years ago, eight hundred acres of land, the present site of Cincinnati, was purchased for five hundred dollars. Millions would be required to purchase it at the present time.

William B. York, master of a British bark, has obtained $7,500 damages from B. A. Chilton, British Consul at New Orleans, for removing him from command of his vessel, by consular authority.

From the report of the Odd Fellows, it appears that they have 3,129 lodges, 109,197 contributing members, a revenue of $1,334,935, and that $498,520 were expended during the past year in "relief."

An immense wood shed, some four hundred feet long by forty wide, and full of wood, belonging to the Erie Railroad Company, at Delaware, Port Jervis, was burned Friday morning. Loss about $30,000.

It is said that the small pox is killing off the Osage Indians by wholesale. When taken with the disease they immediately get into the water, and lie there until death comes. Under this treatment, over two hundred have died in less than two weeks.

A lady of Cincinnati, named Bush, the wife of a tailor on Vine street, near Twelfth, presented her lord on Monday evening with three bouncing feminine pledges of affection. She proved a most profitable asset to yield three blooming flowers at one time.

Rev. E. H. Chilton, in his remarks at the Universalist Festival, in Faneuil Hall, alluded to the Emperor Napoleon as "The Imperial Gambler of France, who had won his throne with dice made from the bones of the Great Napoleon."

The wife of Wm. Olmstead, of Bloomfield, Monroe county, Ohio, on the 3d of June presented her husband three fine children, one boy and two girls. Weight, five pounds twelve ounces, five pounds four ounces, and five pounds fifteen ounces. One has a white head, one a black head, and the other a red head.

The Imperial library of Vienna contains upwards of 16,000 manuscripts on parchments in the Greek, Hebrew, Chinese, Indian and Arab, and nearly 12,000 in the European languages on paper; there are also 12,000 in the Coptic characters, upwards of 280,000 modern works, 6,000 volumes of music, and 8,300 autographs of celebrated individuals.

Peter Lawson, of Draught, Mass., has just sold an Alderney cow and calf for $325. Last year the cow produced seventeen pounds of butter per week, of such quality that it sold at fifty cents per pound; six hundred pounds per year is considered her average. Mr. Lawson sold, at the same time, an Alderney heifer, eleven months old, for $120.

Commissioner Maypenny concluded a very important treaty with the Chickasaws and Choctaws, on Friday. It makes a satisfactory settlement of very embarrassing questions. The treaty goes into effect upon its ratification by the Indian Council and the Senate. Several months have been employed in negotiating this treaty, but it has been finally brought to a satisfactory conclusion.

We are again placed under obligations to the attentive clerk of the F. X. Aubry, for late St. Louis papers.

The 4th of July was celebrated at several points in Kansas Territory.

PROVERBS.

Suspicion is a counterfeit of truth, as well as falsehood.

Shadows are so many little evenings, trying to hide themselves from the eye of day.

It is observable that in all popular superstitions, wise men follow fools.

Many chords of the lyre within the poet's heart have been dumb to the world's ear.

The pyramids themselves doing with age, have forgotten the names of their founders.

All great deeds are like statues—first moulded in the wretched clay of words.

Suspicious among thoughts are like bats among birds, they ever fly by twilight.

Beauty is a rock on which many a man makes shipwreck, while in search of the pearls that adorn it.

It seems to me as if not only the form, but the soul of man was made to walk erect, and look upon the stars.

There is many a woman who would make a splendid picture, if like the goddess Laverna, she could be painted as a head without a body.

In all cases of slander currency, whenever the forger of the lie is not to be found the injured should have a right to come on any of the endorsers.

Wisdom cannot be obtained without industry and labor. Can we hope to find gold upon the surface of the earth, when we dig almost to the centre of it to find lead, and tin, and the baser metals?

It is not to difficult a task to plant new truths to root out old errors, for there is this paradox in men, they run after that which is new, but are prejudiced in favor of that which is old.

If every man was in reality as bad as some person at some time thinks him, the world would be much worse than it is; again, if every man was really as good as he sometimes thinks himself, the world would be much better than it is.

EX-PRESIDENT VAN BUREN AT AN EARTHQUAKE.—An American gentleman writes from Nice, Italy, that during the last season, while Mr. Van Buren was in that city, hearing that earthquakes were formerly prevalent in that part of the country, but no shock had been felt for a number of years, told his Italian host that, for the rarity and novelty of it, he would like to have a "small shake" happen while he was there. Sure enough, in a few weeks thereafter, in the dead of night, the whole city and mountains commenced rocking, and the inhabitants, in the greatest consternation, fled to the streets. Among others in the park, which was near the hotel, was Mr. Van Buren in primitive costume, and in a high state of excitement. The ex-President and citizens passed the balance of the night in the streets, and he was perfectly satisfied with the "small shake."

Barnum's Baby Show is three hundred years or so too late. It should have been held in Florence in the good old days, and then one lady might have carried away all the prizes. In the Palazzo Frescobaldi, long the residence of an ancient Florentine family of that name, there figures, among the other family pictures, a full length portrait of a tall, comely dame, not much strikener in years, underneath which is this inscription: "Dianora Salvati, wife of Bartholomeo Frescobaldi, produced fifty-two children, never less than three at a birth. The case is referred to in an old medical work."

PRENTICE'S LAST.—Two or three papers in the interior of Kentucky are occasionally attacking us, and a friendly correspondent asks why we do not "castigate them." The truth is, they are altogether too small. A woman once handed her crying baby to her husband, requesting him to make it hush. It continued to cry till she got out of patience, and then she called out to her husband, "I do wish you would spank that baby." "Yes," said he. He humbled about for some time, and at length she angrily exclaimed—"Aint you a going to spank that baby?" "I would," he replied, "but indeed wife, I can't find any place big enough to spank." —Louisville Journal.

Last week while a man employed at the sewerage works at Halifax, was being rapidly wound up out of a deep hole, after having lit the fuse of the blast, the rope, owing to the carelessness of parties at the top, was suffered to drop back again. The man fell close upon the impending danger, and in the sudden view of almost certain death, fell on his knees uttering accents of prayer. A thought struck him, however, he seized the burning fuse, and pulling it out of the hole, saved his life. And then—alas, for his penitence! he commenced swearing at the men at the wheel for having let him slip.

Never marry a man until you have seen him eat. Let the candidate for your hand pass through the ordeal of eating soft boiled greens. If he can do it and leave the table spread, the napkin, and his shirt unspattered—take him. Try him next with a spare-rib. If he accomplishes this feat without putting out one of his own eyes, or pitching the bones into your lap—name the wedding day at once, he will do it to tie to.

From the Charleston Mercury.

CUBA.

We have received from a high source, reliable intelligence of the most interesting character from the island of Cuba. The pacific turn which the relations between Spain and the United States have recently taken, has thrown complete gloom over the prospects and hopes of the Creoles. Despairing of receiving aid from the United States government and their friends here being prevented by the neutrality laws from going to their assistance they have, it seems, resolved upon a desperate leap for freedom. They have determined to revive the original idea of Lord Palmerston of throwing themselves into the arms of England, which was not agreed to at the time because of the condition of the abolition of slavery. The new Club of Independence now consent to admit of gradual emancipation, in order to obtain from England a guaranty of independence and they have referred the subject not only to Lord Palmerston but to the abolition societies of England and France. From the recent rapid and increasing enlistment of the blacks, numbering now six thousand men, and from other indications, the Cubans are convinced that the design of Spain is to Africanize the island, and they are willing to anticipate her in the design if that can secure the protection of England and deliverance from Spanish oppression. The announcement of such a scheme cannot fail to excite attention in all quarters of the country.

The Golden State arrived Friday afternoon, bringing a large amount of goods for Salt Lake. She laid at our landing several hours, discharging her cargo, and literally covered our extensive wharf with her freight. Notwithstanding the large number of wagons daily being started from Atchison, our warehouses, storerooms, and levee are now crowded with all kinds of goods destined for the Salt Lake Valley.

A lady residing in New England, who had a number of female servants in her family, and to whom she, on one occasion, gave to each a pair of cast off shoes, found the following impromptu on her chamber mantel, the succeeding morning:

How careful should our mistresses be,
The narrow path to choose,
When all the maids within her house,
Are walking in her shoes.

Passengers are now carried from Buffalo to New York city at the low price of six dollars and fifty cents, by the Buffalo and New York and Erie railways. This low fare ought to induce a large travel. The competition between the New York and Erie and the New York Central railroads promises to be irreconcilable for the present.

The Richmond Enquirer recommends the Southern members of Congress to refuse the Senators and Representatives from Massachusetts seats in Congress, and to keep that State disfranchised, until the Legislature repeals the late act for the security of personal liberty.
